Once you have submitted your application, you can no longer make any changes. If individual documents are not complete, the document will be rejected by the DIT Graduate School during the formal review. You will receive an automated e-mail informing you that there have been changes to the documents. You can see the document in question and, if applicable, the new deadline for resubmission under “Application overview” - “Upload documents”. If you move the mouse over the field highlighted in red, you will see the reason for rejection and other information.
