* Students have to take compulsory language courses as part of their studies. Students cannot enrol in a course of their native language or of a language they speak fluently (language proficiency level B2 or higher). Czech students primarily studying in Germany need to take German as a foreign language as „Compulsory Language: German or Czech“. German students primarily studying in the Czech Republic need to take Czech as „Compulsory Language: German or Czech“. All Students of other nationalities need to demonstrate a completed A1 level of proficiency in either German or Czech, depending on where they are primarily studying, by the end of the study programme. This can be achieved by successfully completing a language course for level A1 (or higher) at one of the two universities. A minimum of 4 ECTS and maximum of 8 ECTS must/can be used for language courses. Only national language courses of each of the respective universities in the programme can be provided with certainty.
