Proof of proficiency in the language of instruction:

In order to enrol in your degree programme, you need to meet certain language requirements.

In case you have not yet provided proof of the language skills specified in your letter of admission, the following applies:

Proof of proficiency in the language of instruction must be uploaded to the Primuss portal by the time of enrolment, at the latest before the start of the semester (by 30 September for the winter semester / by 14 March for the summer semester). Please independently check the specific language requirements of your degree programme at:

<https://www.th-deg.de/en/apply#language-requirements>

If you do not submit the documents on time, you will not be enrolled.

I hereby confirm that I have taken note of the language requirements applicable to my degree programme. I have read and understood the above language regulation and the associated implications for admission and will submit the missing document within the given deadline.
